Development of this weapon of economic warfare was suggested by liberal leaders in parliament, who proposed that the government take adequate measures to in-crease Britain's financial strength by developing her export trade. One commentator urged the na-tion to go after trade at all costs, outbidding and underselling Ger-

These are days for A. B. C. thinking. The man who counts most is not the one who knows the largest number of international facts, and has the shrewdest judgment of diplomatic and military moves, but it is the man who sees deepest into the heart of humanity. What are, or should be the master motives of mankind? To what appeals do people ultimately respond? What are their real goals, and their real purposes?

Life's Greatest Teacher had a unique gift for getting at the heart of things. That is why His teachings are of universal application. They fit every land and time and condition.

Again and again. He demolished

Again and again, He demolished Again and again, he demission the notion—nowadays more prevalent than then—that life is meant for the enjoyment of things; that possessions, luxury and ease are the ends of existence. Real life rethe ends of existence. Real life resides in one's loves and loyalties. In the credo of Christ, there is no such sentence as, "A man must live." We search His words in vain for any warrant that the maintenance of any fixed standard of living is essential to happiness. of living is essential to happiness.
Only one thing really matters: our loyalty to our Gleam, to Christ and His Kingdom. For within that loyalty are enwrapped, and purified, all our lesser loyalties and loves.

The New World Order
That old truth is time-tested. It has blossomed into all the new has blossomed mo modeling the forms of humanitarianism which have ameliorated the lot of mankind. Nowadays many earnest spirits and profound minds are pondering the sort of new world order that will follow the present war. These ideas do not always get into print; but, make no mistake about it, they bulk large in the thinking and talk of the sober-minded, who and talk of the sober-minded, who are the solution of the sober-minded who are the solution of the sober-minded who are the solution of the solution

These ideas do not always get into print; but, make no mistake about it, they bulk large in the thinking and talk of the sober-minded, who recognize that civilization simply cannot continue along its old predatory way.

This resolution to achieve a new state of things in human society is the deepest-running tide of our time. Along the frothy edges of it are many crack-pot schemes. But the real movement was begun by Jesus, when He chose twelve of His closest friends to pioneer the proram. He envisaged the Kingdom of Heaven as the ideal form of society. While He created no organization, He did set is motion a propaganda that began with His first personal disciples, and has continued, in increasing power, throughout the centuries since.

That is the soldier's faith. The Master Propagandist
In a day beset by petty, and often stupid propaganda, it is helpful to stand aside and take a long look, down the ages and over the whole earth, at the achieve-ments of this Master Propagandments of this Master Propagandalst. For it was by propagandalone that Jesus planned to win mankind for the Kingdom. True; there have been periods when sections of His Church have sought to achieve their ends by the exercise of authority and force; but, in the large view, these have all mis-carried. Tell the Story, and live it out: that was Christ's program.

gram. Several points arise for comment as we contemplate the great propaganda and its beginnings. First, is the utter absence of self-ish motives. Not for gain or glory ish motives. Not for gain or glory were the disciples sent forth. Second, they were to expect sacrifice, hardship, rebuffs, even death. At one period of the Early Church, the zeal for martyrdom was so excessive among the Christians, that their leaders were obliged to warn sternly against it.

HORSES FOR RIDING

As if horses didn't suffer enough from the competition of the gasoline engine, the Department of Agriculture announces that this has been a particularly hard year in other ways for these noble animals. The colt crop was low, and disease made heavy inroads on the existing horse population. On January 1 there were 382,000 mules in this country. Not enough colts have been born in 1938 and 1939 to replace old work rtock.

But if the horse is disappearing as a worker, it is likely to be preserved as man's leisure time companion. Riding, like golf, has become a favorite recreation of many people of moderate means. Parks nearly everywhere today 1939. A recent newspaper have bridle paths. There are riding classes even in some public high schools. Teachers and office workers and youngsters at sumride and enjoy a weekly canter without disarranging their budgets. We'll PAY FOR SAFETY

There is no difference of opinion in this country about armament. The opple would welcome such a deal. The next step, if there were one, might be to present the same proposal to the British and French public. It might be resented, and would almost certainly be turned down at first, but at least the discussion would be interesting.

SOUL THINGS. All these are evidence of things divine: The tulip bed; the ampelopsis vine;
The marigold of summer and the grass
Kept green to glad the eyes of all who pass.

The white, trim curtains at the window pane
Tell something more than speech can quite explain.
The clean-swept walk; the painted boards anew— Tasks which the flesh is not re-fulred to do.

No law demands; no force there is compels
Adornment of the spot where mortal dwells;
Brutes are content where plenty is to feed, The love of beauty is a higher need.

We prove our souls by little things like these; Beds of blue larkspur, phlox, anemones: Curtains of lace; arm chairs at blazing fires And bits of beauty more than flesh requires.

MAPS FOR A QUEER WAR

Newspaper readers who remember the war maps published in 1914-1918 find the current output quite unlike the last war and unlike the kind of war everyone expected.

So far there are no great battles anywhere along the western front, and consequently maps do not need to show advances or retreats or areas captured. There are maps, however, which show the boundaries of 1914, 1921 1938 and map, described as a "black board map of Europe showing the war in the tenth week," presents Eu rope's different countries in

Miss Maddox, who had been an acquaintance of the attorney for several years, was the victim of an ice-pick stabbing last May which she attributed to her refusal to accompany Coffman to California.

After last week's Main Street slaying, in which she emptied two pistols at the screaming victim, Miss Maddox told reporters she killed Coffman because of his threats and because of his threats and because she "hated him."

Twice before, she said, she lay in wait for the attorney, being prevented from shooting him because of crowds and because her weapon jammed.

Miss Maddox is the daughter of a Dallas bank official, and Coffman was a member of a well-known Dallas family.

Martha Class Kerens Baptist SS Met On Thursday Afternoon

KERENS, Nov. 30.—(Spl.)—Mrs. Ford Ivey and Mrs. W. T. Stockton were hostesses to the Martha class of the First Baptist Sunday school when it met in the home of Mrs Deedie Etheridge Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Mrs. W. L. Bain, class president pre-siding. Glowing open fires and georgeous chrysanthemums of va-ried hue added warmth and cheer to the spacious living room where all assembled.

The meeting was opened by all inging the class song "Jesus Calls Us" with Mrs. L. Murphree at the plano. This was followed with prayer by Mrs. Eugene Ross, after which Mrs. W. W. Hemphill gave a scripture reading appro-priate to the Thanksgiving sea-son. Visits made with sunshine pals were discussed. Roll call was answered with Thanksgiving scriptures.

CHICAGO. Nov. 30.—(P)—The best buying the grain market has experienced since the September war boom caused wheat prices to lump 1 to 2 cents a bashel today to the highest level in almost two years. Corn, cats and rye also were higher while soy beans rosed 41-4 cents to $1.08 for December delivery, highest in two years. Russo-Finnish warfare and reports that much grain has been lost in recent sinkings of merchant ships in the European war zone stimulated buying. PREJUDICE SERIOUS THREATS TO AMERICA

MINISTER ADDRESSES OPEN-ING SESSION TEXAS TEACH-ERS ASSOCIATION

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 30.—(F)—
The Rev. Everett Jones, San Antonio Episcopal pastor, told Texas teachers today the spirit of intolerance and prejudice that seems to oppress minority groups is among the most serious threats to the welfare of the United States.

Speaking at a joint Thanksgiving service to which the San Antonio Ministers Assoication had invited delegates attending the State Teachers' convention, the Rev. Mr. Jones said the most serious threats facing the country are not an unbalanced budget or the struggle for the rights of labor. He also cited the "fear and pride" that would suppress freedom of speech and press, and the "cheap conception of humanity that corrupts business and politics by saying 'every man has his price," as threats.

Dr. Richard F. Pattee of Washington told the teachers at their convention session this afternoon to turn to the Southern republics in their search for cultural accomplishments.

Dr. Pattee, assistant director of the cultural relations division of the department of state, declared
